On 13 October 1942, the Germans hanged my husband, Tadeusz Gałązka. Born on 20 April 1910, he worked as a grinder at the Arms Factory in Radom. I didn't see the execution in Rożki. Nor did I see the execution in Radom. I know from people that my husband was hanged at 8.00 a.m. and that his body was removed from the gallows at 6.00 p.m. and then buried. I learned about his execution from Anna Krupa and Stefan Dukieliski, both of whom live in Radom on 1905 Street.

The report was read out, signed and accepted.
