What do the mass graves tell us?

Poland is strewn with mass graves. There is not a town or village in our country where such graves could not be found. The Germans ordered them to be leveled and plowed. It was forbidden to put wreaths and flowers there. But immediately after the Germans left, people took care of these martyrs and reverently transferred their ashes to the cemetery. From now on, we will not only take care of the graves, but we will also pray for these martyrs.
